jQuery Masonry - Github

<https://github.com/desandro/masonry>

Masonry is a layout plugin for jQuery. Think of it as the flip side of CSS floats. Whereas floating arranges elements horizontally then vertically, Masonry arranges elements vertically then horizontally according to a grid. The result minimizes vertical gaps between elements of varying height, just like a mason fitting stones in a wall.

f.lux makes your computer screen look like the room you're in, all the time. When the sun sets, it makes your computer look like your indoor lights. In the morning, it makes things look like sunlight again. Tell f.lux what kind of lighting you have, and where you live. Then forget about it. f.lux will do the rest, automatically.

Everyone Involved In Pizza's Preparation, Delivery, Purchase Extremely High | The Onion - America's Finest News Source

<http://www.theonion.com/articles/everyone-involved-in-pizzas-preparation-delivery-p,504/>

"From its creation at the hands of a stoned-out-of-his-mind pizzeria employee to its eventual consumption by a group of guys so unbelievably high they didn't even realize they had mistakenly given the delivery driver a $20 tip, this pizza spent its entire existence in a dense cloud of marijuana fumes," said pizza-industry watchdog Roger Dernier, who has been monitoring the link between pizza production and illegal drug use since 1991. "In the brief time this pizza spent on Earth, at no point did it come into contact with a single non-stoned human being."

The Lip Lady's Secret Granola - The Traveler's Lunchbox

<http://www.travelerslunchbox.com/journal/2007/6/9/the-lip-ladys-secret-granola.html>

1 lb. (450g) quick oats* 3 cups (750ml/about 300g) coarsely chopped raw nuts and/or seeds (I usually use a mixture of almonds, hazelnuts and pumpkin seeds, but use whatever tickles your fancy) 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon 1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom 1/2 teaspoon ground mace (or nutmeg) 1 cup, packed (200g) dark brown sugar 1/2 cup (115g/1 stick) unsalted butter 1/3 cup (80ml) water 1/2 teaspoon fine sea salt 2 teaspoons vanilla extract dried fruit, at your discretion *if you're not familiar with the difference between quick and regular (also called 'old fashioned') rolled oats, take a look at the pictures here Preheat the oven to 300F/150C. In a food processor, coffee grinder or blender, grind half the oats to a fine powder. In a large bowl, combine the whole oats, ground oats, nuts, seeds and spices. In a microwave-safe bowl (or in a saucepan over medium heat), combine the brown sugar, butter and water and heat just until the butter has melted and the mixture is bubbly. Stir the mixture together until smooth, then stir in the salt and vanilla. Pour this mixture over the oats and nuts, stirring well to coat (I usually do this with my hands). It should be uniformly moist - stir in another tablespoon or two of water if it isn't. Let stand for about ten minutes. Spread the mixture out on a large baking sheet, separating it into irregular clumps with your fingers, and allowing space between the clumps for the hot air to circulate. Slide into the middle of the oven and bake for 25-30 minutes, or until the top is golden brown. Remove from the oven and stir, gently breaking up the mixture into small-to-medium sized clumps. Return to the oven and bake another 15 minutes or so before stirring again. Repeat the bake-and-stir until the mixture is a uniform golden brown and completely dry; this usually takes 1-1 1/2 hours. Cool completely, then stir in any dried fruit you want to use. Store in a covered container at room temperature. Serve with milk or plain yogurt and fresh fruit as desired.

The Infinity Burial Project

<http://infinityburialproject.com/>

The Infinity Burial Project proposes alternatives for the postmortem body that promote and facilitate an individual engagement with the process of decomposition. The Project features the development of a unique strain of mushroom that decomposes and remediates toxins in human tissue, the development of a decomposition 'kit', burial suits embedded with decomposition activators, and a membership society devoted to the promotion of death awareness and acceptance and the practice of decompiculture (the cultivation of decomposing organisms). Founded and directed by Jae Rhim Lee, the Infinity Burial Project is funded by the Creative Capital Foundation, the Institut für Raumexperimente/Universität der Künste Berlin, and the MAK Center for Art + Architecture.

<http://googleblog.blogspot.com/2004/05/chicken-la-king.html>

Buttermilk Fried Chicken Elvis Loved Google-sized portions; read all the way through to get the total amounts needed 1/2 c thyme 1/4 c oregano 1/4 c basil 1/2 c onion powder 1/2 c garlic powder 1/2 c dry mustard 1/2 c paprika 1/4 c chili powder 1/2 c celery seed 2 Tbsp salt 1/2 c coriander 1/2 c cumin 1/3 c kosher salt 1/4 c cayenne pepper 1/2 c ground black pepper 1/4 c ground white pepper 3 gals. buttermilk 3 cases organic free range chicken (roughly 30 chickens, divided into 1.5- to 2-lb. sections) Mix these amounts of the dry ingredients together in a large bowl, then whisk in the buttermilk until it's thoroughly mixed. Pour the batter over the chickens and marinate for up to five days - keep refrigerated, of course. For frying Now mix another 4x the above dry ingredients, and add: 2 lbs. cornstarch 8 qts. all-purpose organic whole wheat flour Dredge the marinated chicken pieces in the dry herbs/flour/cornstarch mixture mix. Fry the dredged chicken in a large skillet with hot peanut oil @ 375 degrees. Once chicken has reached a golden brown color, finish cooking it in the oven.

<http://twitter.github.com/bootstrap/>

Bootstrap is a toolkit from Twitter designed to kickstart development of webapps and sites. It includes base CSS and HTML for typography, forms, buttons, tables, grids, navigation, and more. Nerd alert: Bootstrap is built with Less and was designed to work out of the gate with modern browsers in mind.

Open Source Ecology

<http://opensourceecology.org/wiki>

Open Source Ecology is a network of farmers, engineers, and supporters that has been imagining and creating the Global Village Construction Set, an open source, low-cost, high performance technological platform. These DIY-fabricated industrial machines can be used to build a sustainable civilization with modern comforts. The GVCS lowers the barriers to entry into farming, building, and manufacturing. It is a life-size lego-like set of modular tools that can create entire economies.

Getting Here From There [via Longreads]

[http://www.nytimes.com/2011/09/08/us/
sept-11-reckoning/decade.html](http://www.nytimes.com/2011/09/08/us/sept-11-reckoning/decade.html)

But there has been a chasm between expectations and reality. The prophecy of more attacks on the United States has not been the case, not yet at least. Bumbling attempts got close — involving underwear and a shoe and a 1993 Nissan Pathfinder — but the actuality has been that terrorist acts on American soil in the succeeding years have been, as always, largely homegrown. So many things were expected to be different that have not been. Time passes, and passes some more. Exigencies of living hammer away impatiently. People — most of them, at least — began to become themselves. New York, which by its nature accommodates so much, was willing to absorb 9/11 and keep moving. #Sept11

Lost and Found [via Longreads]

11WWLN.html?pagewanted=all](http://www.nytimes.com/2001/11/11/magazine/11WWLN.html?pagewanted=all)

I never got a chance to say goodbye to the twin towers. And they never got a chance to say goodbye to me. I think they would have liked to; I refuse to believe in their indifference. You say you know these streets pretty well? The city knows you better than any living person because it has seen you when you are alone. It saw you steeling yourself for the job interview, slowly walking home after the late date, tripping over nonexistent impediments on the sidewalk. It saw you wince when the single frigid drop fell from the air-conditioner 12 stories up and zapped you. It saw the bewilderment on your face as you stepped out of the stolen matinee, incredulous that there was still daylight after such a long movie. It saw you half-running up the street after you got the keys to your first apartment. It saw all that. Remembers too. #Sept11

Why No More 9/11s? [via Longreads]

<http://www.slate.com/id/2213025>

Amid the many uncertainties loosed by the al-Qaida attacks on Sept. 11, 2001, one forecast seemed beyond doubt: Islamist terrorists would strike the United States again—and soon. "Ninety days at the most," said counterterrorism expert Juval Aviv. On Oct. 5, 2001, an unnamed senior intelligence official told Congress, in a private briefing, that there was a "100 percent" chance of another terrorist attack should the U.S. invade Afghanistan, as it did two days later. "An attack is predictable now whether we retaliate against Afghanistan or not," reasoned House Speaker-to-be Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif. Sen. Richard Shelby, R-Ala., agreed: "You can just about bet on it." #Sept11

Butternut Squash Soup Recipe | Confections of a Foodie Bride

<http://www.jasonandshawnda.com/foodiebride/archives/970>

Ingredients 2 1/2 lbs butternut squash 32 oz vegetable broth 1/8 tsp cayenne 1/4 tsp cinnamon 1/2 tsp salt 3 Tbsp unsalted butter, divided 1/2 cup walnuts, rough chopped 1 Tbsp fresh sage, chopped 1 9-oz package cheese ravioli, cooked and drained Molasses, for garnish
Instructions Make the soup: Peel the squash, halve lengthwise and scoop the seeds. Dice squash into 3/4 inch pieces. In a large sauce pan, combine squash, broth, cayenne, cinnamon, and salt. Cook covered over medium heat until squash is tender, about 30 minutes. Transfer 1/3 of the squash mixture to a blender/food processor and puree until smooth (I don't have an immersion blender... if you have one, this would be a great time to bust it out.) Repeat with remaining squash. Return squash mixture to the pan. Bring to a boil and then simmer for 10 minutes. Whisk in 1 Tbsp butter. Taste for seasoning and adjust - I thought it needed a generous pinch of salt. (To freeze: cool the soup and then divide it among 6 freezer bags and freeze flat in the freezer.) Make the walnuts: Preheat oven to 325. Rough chop walnuts and spread on a small baking sheet. Roast until fragrant, about 5 minutes. Melt 2 Tbsp butter in a small sauce pan over medium heat. When the butter begins to brown, add sage and remove from heat. Toss sage browned butter with toasted walnuts. Serve: Ladle soup into individual bowls. Divide cooked ravioli between the bowls. Drizzle with molasses, top with walnuts, and sprinkle with sea salt if desired. Notes Yields: 6 servings Adapted from Better Homes & Garden, Fall/Winter 2008 Estimated time: 1 hour

Loaded Baked Sweet Potato Soup. | How Sweet It Is

<http://www.howsweeteats.com/2011/10/loaded-baked-sweet-potato-soup/>

Loaded Baked Sweet Potato Soup serves about 4, can be easily multiplied 3 large sweet potatoes, peeled and cubed (I had 2lbs total after peeling and cubing) 2 tablespoons butter 1 1/2 tablespoons flour 1/2 sweet onion, diced (about 1/2 cup chopped) 2 garlic cloves, minced 2 1/2-3 cups low-sodium vegetable stock 1 1/2-2 cups low-sodium chicken stock 1/2 cup milk 1/2 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper 1/4 teaspoon smoked paprika for garnishes: bacon, mascarpone cheese, crumbled goat cheese & crispy shallots Prepare potatoes: peel and cube sweet potatoes, then add to a microwave safe bowl.

Microwave on high power for about 10 minutes or until fork tender, tossing 2-3 times during cook time. If you do not want to use the microwave, throw the potatoes on a baking sheet with a drizzle of olive oil, salt and pepper (you can omit/add less salt and pepper later if this is the case) and roast at 400 degrees for about 35 minutes.

Using the microwave will help this soup come together in 30 minutes. Roasting the sweet potatoes adds a bit more "caramely," deep flavor. Heat a large pot over medium-high heat. Add butter and diced onions and cook for 5 minutes. Stir in garlic and cook for 1 minute more, then add flour and whisk continuously to create a roux with the onions. Cook the onion roux for about 2-3 minutes, until it starts to golden in color a bit and smell nutty. Add in stock, milk, smoked paprika and potatoes, then bring to a boil. Simmer for 15-20 minutes over medium heat, stirring often – especially scraping the bottom. The potatoes will begin to break down at this time – if they are not as broken down as you'd like, mash a bit more with a fork. Turn heat down to low and add salt and pepper. Taste and adjust seasonings according to preference. If you'd prefer a thinner soup, add more stock to thin it out. You can also throw the soup in the blender to make it super creamy. Serve hot with garnishes of crumbled bacon, mascarpone cheese, goat cheese, and crisped shallots. Note: to crisp the shallots, I sliced 2 whole shallots very thinly, add a little canola oil over medium-high heat, and once hot added the shallots. I cooked them for about 2 minutes, then removed with a slotted spoon and let drain on a paper towel. So good.

U B U W E B - Film & Video: Emile de Antonio - Underground (1976)

http://ubu.com/film/deantonio_underground.html

Underground is a 1976 documentary film about the Weathermen, the militant faction of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) who fought to overthrow the U.S. government during the 1960's and 1970's. The film consists of interviews with members of the group after they went underground and footage of the anti-war and civil rights protests during this time period. It was directed by Emile de Antonio, Haskell Wexler and Mary Lampson, who were subpoenaed by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in an attempt to confiscate the film footage in order to gain information that would help them arrest the Weathermen.

- 30ml olive oil - 250g chorizo sausage - 1 medium onion finely chopped - 500g kale - 300g cubed and peeled floury potatoes - 1.5L chicken stock 1. In a frying pan, fry chorizo slices in olive oil over medium heat until crisp. Remove from pan, and sweat the onions in the sausage fat. 2. In a large pot boil kale and potatoes in chicken stock for 15-20 minutes. When potatoes are tender, add onions and puree the mixture with a hand mixer. You may alternatively boil the potatoes separately in water and add after pureeing in order to retain their shape. 3. Add chorizo and season to taste with salt and pepper. Serve with a nice piece of sourdough bread.

- Always wrap your plugin in a closure: (function($){ /* plugin goes here */ })(jQuery);
- Don't redundantly wrap the this keyword in the immediate scope of your plugin's function
- Unless you're returning an intrinsic value from your plugin, always have your plugin's function return the this keyword to maintain chainability.
- Rather than requiring a lengthy amount of arguments, pass your plugin settings in an object literal that can be extended over the plugin's defaults.
- Don't clutter the jQuery.fn object with more than one namespace per plugin.
- Always namespace your methods, events and data.

French Onion Soup Recipe - Saveur.com

<http://www.saveur.com/article/Recipes/French-Onion-Soup>

1 cup white wine 1/2 cup plus 3 tbsp. sherry 10 tbsp. butter 1 tsp. sugar 3 large yellow onions, thinly sliced Kosher salt and black pepper, to taste 6 sprigs flat-leaf parsley 6 sprigs thyme 2 fresh bay leaves 2 qts. Beef Stock 12 1/2"-thick slices baguette 2 cloves garlic, smashed 6 cups grated gruyère cheese 2 cups finely grated parmigiano-reggiano 1. Heat oven to 425°. Combine wine, 1/2 cup of the sherry, 8 tbsp. of the butter, sugar, onions, and salt and pepper in a 9" × 13" casserole dish and braise, uncovered, stirring occasionally, until the onions just begin to brown, 40–45 minutes. Remove casserole from oven, cover with foil, and continue braising in oven, stirring occasionally, until caramelized, about 1 hour more. Keep the onions warm. 2. Meanwhile, tie parsley, thyme, and bay leaves together with kitchen twine to make a bouquet garni. Put bouquet garni and stock into a pot and bring to a boil. Reduce heat to medium-low and simmer, partially covered, for 30 minutes. Remove and discard bouquet garni. Stir in remaining sherry and cook for 5 minutes more. 3. While the broth simmers, spread the baguette slices with the remaining butter. Toast in a skillet over medium heat, turning once, until golden, 5–7 minutes. Rub the slices generously with garlic and set aside. Discard any remaining garlic. 4. Heat broiler with rack 6" from element. Arrange 6 heatproof bowls on a foil-lined sheet tray, divide onions and broth between bowls, and stir together. Place 2 baguette slices in each bowl; top each with about 1 cup gruyère and about 1/3 cup parmigiano. Broil until cheeses are browned and bubbly, 3–5 minutes. Serve immediately.

<http://www.ruli.us/rulius/2011/12/4/want-me-to-read-your-blog-make-a-good-bio-page.html>

Users want to satisfy their curiosities. If what they read was even mildly interesting, they want to learn more about the author. Figure out what he's all about. So they head to the "About" or "FAQ" or whatever. That moment is the kicker - if you have an articulate about page, and they don't have any issue with your bio and "mission statement," a significant number of those visitors will keep coming back. It's that simple. The most important parts of the bio are simple: 1. Goals for the blog. 2. Identity and credentials. 3. Contact information and update info.

Bats, of course, use echolocation. Beluga whales too. Dolphins. And Daniel Kish. He is so accomplished at echolocation that he's able to pedal his mountain bike through streets heavy with traffic and on precipitous dirt trails. He climbs trees. He camps out, by himself, deep in the wilderness. He's lived for weeks at a time in a tiny cabin a two-mile hike from the nearest road. He travels around the globe. He's a skilled cook, an avid swimmer, a fluid dance partner. Essentially, though in a way that is unfamiliar to nearly any other human being, Kish can see.

The Immortal Horizon

http://www.believermag.com/issues/201105/?read=article_jamison

Over twenty years later, that man, the man in the trench coat—Gary Cantrell by birth, self-dubbed Lazarus Lake—has turned this terrain into the stage for a legendary ritual: the Barkley Marathons, held yearly (traditionally on Lazarus Friday or April Fool's Day) outside Wartburg, Tennessee. Lake (known as Laz) calls it "The Race That Eats Its Young." The runners' bibs say something different each year: SUFFERING WITHOUT A POINT; NOT ALL PAIN IS GAIN. Only eight men have ever finished. The event is considered extreme even by those who specialize in extremity.
